

Speaker 1: Um, I learned that, through the Christian club I learned that people can sometimes be very judgmental. And they are quick to like, pre-judge you on like your beliefs and your standards and the way you think because it doesn't necessarily agree with what they believe or think. And I kind of learned that you just have to look to God for, and trust in Him. So you can't be ashamed to say "Oh, I'm Christian and I'm a part of the Christian Club."

Speaker 2: So I've learned that there are people in other communities, and kids like us that all around the world that don't have the privileges that we have. And who haven't learned to have a relationship with God. And I also learned that people like us, kids like us, that we can really make a difference if we really believe in and show what we believe in.
