

I learned that beyond everything in the world, it's really important to know almost where you came from so that way you can continue to figure out how to advance. You have to know your roots before you're going to continue. I really think Jewish cultural club has helped myself and others figure that out.