

Students Learn About Themselves Clip 1 Transcript

Speaker 1:

Well, being part of Christians In Actions in school is like a weekly reminder of what I should be like, what God expects of me. So, discovering myself, well, uh, being surrounded by Christians at school really strengthens my faith because I know that there are so many people around high school that are similar to me and have similar ideas. I just really think that really helps me go through every week with a positive attitude. So, yeah.

Speaker 2:

Yeah, and, I realized that I can do so much more than I thought I could. I'm not just a regular student. I can even help out, make a change and make a difference in the world. I never realized that. I always thought that I'm just one person, what could I do. But then, after joining clubs like these I realize that there is so much more to the world. And there's so much more that just one person can do. Because if you all unite then you can make even a bigger difference.

Speaker 3:

Uh, what I learned about myself, is probably how much passion that someone can be, how much involved they can be if they really find their groove in the world, like what they like and what they're passionate about then you can basically learn to live off that, to learn to be really involved and passionate about one thing.
